

December 18, 2017

Dear Representative:

As the leading organizations and survivors dedicated to ending human trafficking, we are writing to express our strong opposition to FOSTA as reported out of the House Judiciary Committee last week and urge you to remove your name as a co-sponsor. This new replacement bill bears little resemblance to the bill we originally supported and which you originally co-sponsored.

H.R. 1865, the Fight Online Sex Trafficking Act of 2017 (FOSTA) as reported out of the Judiciary Committee is an entirely new bill which amends the Mann Act in lieu of critical amendments to Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act (CDA) that would have provided access to justice for survivors of sex trafficking at the state and local level. For that and other reasons, FOSTA is a far departure from the language and intent of the FOSTA legislation that we supported and you co-sponsored. As an example of the substitute's shortcomings, the new language imposes a specific "intent" standard for any liability, which makes it nearly impossible for any civil litigant to file successfully against bad actors. The substitute also forecloses an existing avenue of redress for civil litigants in state court as well as private rights of action under the TVPRA. Although the amended version may be well intended, by making the possibility of a private right of action and other civil remedies far more difficult for plaintiffs, it unfortunately fails.

The need for legislation to clarify Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act (CDA) arose in response to the recent 1st Circuit ruling in Doe v. Backpage. That ruling held that even if Backpage had participated in the crime of sex trafficking, Section 230 shielded the company from the claims filed by child victims. The court wrote that the exploited children needed a legislative solution.

We also note that not a single trafficking survivor or victims' group with which we have been working on this legislation supports this amended version of FOSTA. We hope that the House will have an opportunity to vote on legislation that truly addresses the insurmountable hurdles Section 230 presents for victims and survivors seeking accountability and redress for their exploitation. Our goal is simple: websites that engage in and facilitate human trafficking must no longer be able to hide behind the CDA and must be held accountable for their actions.

The Senate Commerce Committee recently and unanimously approved legislation that directly addresses the obstacles of Section 230, allows for civil and criminal liability, and has the support of survivors, advocates, and the tech community, most notably the Internet Association, Facebook, Oracle, IBM, Hewlett Packard, Disney, and 21st Century Fox. Our hope is that the House can find a similar solution that will provide victims and survivors with the legal remedies they so clearly need and that will have the support of advocates as well as the tech sector.

Respectfully,
